Purpose of Processing

City of York Council (known to the learner as York Learning) is a post 16 education and training provider. The funding used to provide this education and training comes from a variety of sources as indicated by the following:

- Education Skills and Funding Agency (ESFA)
- European Social Fund (ESF)

The Data Controller can be contacted through details on the separate privacy statement issued by the ESFA on the Individual Learner Record (ILR) you sign before the learner (data subject) begins their course, or on the link below.

www.gov.uk/government/publications/sfa-privacy-notice

York Learning is contractually required to process your personal data by the above funding bodies, who act as the data controller. This means that we are legally obliged to have this data as a prerequisite for you attending our learning provision. This is so the controller can meet their statutory responsibilities and exercise its functions. As part of this requirement you may be contacted by the English European Social Fund (ESF) Managing Authority, or its agents, to carry out research and evaluation on the effectiveness of the programme.

Categories of personal data

The type of personal data captured includes name, date of birth, NINO, address, postcode, contact details such as phone or email, employment status, destination information, prior attainment level and other specialist categories of data such as ethnicity, gender and health condition/ disability status. These specialist categories of data are described as being more 'sensitive' than ordinary personal data and our additional legal basis for processing is that it is necessary for employment, social security and protection law in so far as it is authorised by Union and Member state law, or in the vital interests of learner.

This data would be shared with a chosen subcontracted partner who proposes to provide the personalised learning, in order to ascertain whether they can meet the learners' specific needs. Again, we are legally obliged to have this data in order to provide the learning, and we also have an additional legal basis for processing special categories of data which is that it is necessary for employment, social security and protection law in so far as it is authorised by Union and Member state law, or in the vital interests of learner. As a matter of good practice, the learner will be made aware in advance that personal data could be shared with relevant bodies.

Electronic Storage

Some of our learning requires completing an electronic portfolio of assignments. We currently use Google sites for this. This facility gives access to learners, their tutor and limited access to their employers (if they are an apprentice only) to complete assignments and to receive feedback. This site also monitors how often and when the site is visited by the learner and this information is available to tutors only during the lifetime of the course undertaken. All learners will be required to view a privacy notice from Google as part of induction to Google Sites so they understand what personal data Google is storing and how Google is complying with GDPR. As Google is cloud based it is likely that this data is transferred and held securely outside of the EU. Google is part of both the EU-US and the Swiss- US Privacy Shield Framework which supports additional self regulation around data protection.

Please find the link to Google's privacy notice here:

All other personal data is stored either internally on ICT systems hosted by City of York Council or via databases on secure servers in the UK and are only accessed by authorised personnel. Please find links to their privacy notices:
